

SOURCE's Partner of the Month – April 2018

Name of Organization: Clay Pots...A Place to Grow

Mission: Clay Pots... A Place to Grow is a non-profit (501c3) organization located in Southwest Baltimore. Formed in 2000 to provide a safe space for the community and a center that fosters spiritual and personal growth, Clay Pots has assisted hundreds of permanent and transient residents in accessing the tools to expand their horizons, tap into their potential, and succeed.

Programs and Services:

GED Classes

Adult Basic Education Courses

Weekly Social Coffeehouse

Art Gallery Space for Emerging, Local Artists

Yoga Classes and other Wellness Classes

Community Driven Workshops

NAMI Peer to Peer Groups

Career Navigation and Workforce Development

Inspiration: Clay Pots receives inspiration from the many voices, personalities and perspectives of the people who take part in Clay Pots' activities. We develop programming directly responsive to the needs of our community.

Greatest Asset: Our greatest asset is the great variety of people who participate, collaborate and facilitate the work at Clay Pots.

Biggest Challenge: The greatest challenge is to keep our space an open and non-judgmental environment, so that it remains safe for everyone.

Volunteer and Work Opportunities: As a volunteer-driven organization, volunteers perform duties ranging from tutoring to workshop facilitation to community beautification projects and beyond. Tell us your vision for being of service!

Clay Pots...A Place to Grow

CONTACT:

Tawanna Kane

Email:

tawanna@claypotsbaltimore.org