

SOURCE's Partner of the Month – October 2014

ANNA BAETJER SOCIETY

FOR PUBLIC HEALTH PRACTICE

Name of Organization: The Anna Baetjer Society

Mission: Our goal is to make a difference in the health of communities – local, regional, national and international – through service and by fostering constructive change. We aim to provide students with meaningful extracurricular activities rooted in the community as well as opportunities to connect with alumni and public health professionals throughout the world.

Programs and Services: S.W.E.E.T Seminars, Faculty Brown Bag Lunch Chats, Community Partnerships, Field trips to D.C. and NYC, Public Health Practice Week

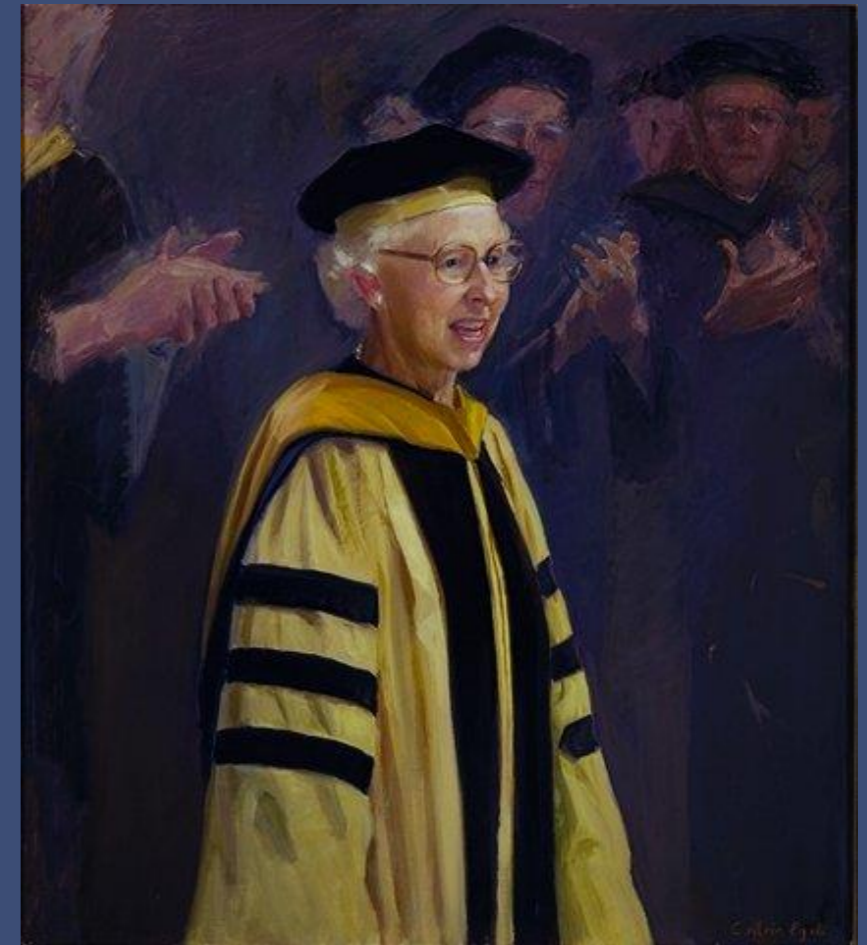

Inspiration: Dr. Anna Baetjer, a pioneer in the fields of occupational health and industrial hygiene, who strongly believed that the best form of learning happens when students translate classroom knowledge to make a real world difference.

Greatest Asset: The vast network of public health professionals and organizations willing to mentor rising public health leaders.

Biggest Challenge: Creating longitudinal, translational service opportunities that works seamlessly with busy JHSPH student schedules.

Involvement Opportunities: All community service projects, S.W.E.E.T. seminars, socials, networking opportunities. Opportunities will be communicated through the activities-I listserv.

Volunteer and Work Opportunities: We are eager to collaborate and co-sponsor student drive initiatives that promote curiosity, community engagement, or networking. Please email us with any such ideas.

THE ANNA BAETJER SOCIETY

CONTACT:

Jerome Chelliah
President

abs@jhsp.edu

615 N. Wolfe Street Suite 1015

Baltimore, MD 21205

707-720-5311