SOURCE Annual Report
2008-2009 Academic Year

The 2008-2009 academic year was SOURCE's fourth full academic year of operation. Throughout the past four years, SOURCE has continued to provide high quality programs and services to our JHU Schools of Medicine, Nursing, and Public Health. We have experienced a steady increase in the number of requests that we receive from students, student groups, and faculty on campus. This annual report emphasizes a variety of accomplishments in relation to SOURCE's mission of providing academic, professional and personal development opportunities for the members of the JHU Schools of Medicine, Nursing, and Public Health through community outreach and service-learning partnerships with community-based organizations.

In 2008-2009, SOURCE experienced a major turnover of staff, with 2 of the 3 full-time positions changing. SOURCE's new Assistant Director began working in mid-July 2008, while SOURCE's new Administrative Coordinator began working in March 2009. With such a small number of staff members to the unit, the burden of training these new staff members fell heavily upon SOURCE's Director. The turnover of staff occurred for good reasons: 1 staff member went back to school F/T to work on his doctorate, and the other staff member completed a masters degree and found employment at JHU in a higher position. SOURCE's Director did have ample notice to plan for the recruitment of new staff members, and an organized training schedule and Manual of Operations was updated to prepare for the major change in staffing. However, the change in staff did impact the relatively small center.

SOURCE 2008-2009 Goals:

1. Improve access and availability of SOURCE's comprehensive resources.
2. Develop the role of SOURCE Student Governing Board members.
3. Increase collaboration with new groups.
4. Development of Academic-Based Community Involvement Programs
5. Properly Train SOURCE's new Assistant Director

Goal Attainment and Challenges:

1. Improve access and availability of SOURCE's comprehensive resources.

During 2008-2009, SOURCE upgraded to a new website. With the refurbished resource, SOURCE was able to provide new resources and information for our clientele, and organized the information in a more efficient manner. Additional items featured on SOURCE's new website include: comprehensive listing of service-based SOURCE affiliated student groups and their missions, resources for "student advocates and social change agents," policies and procedures for student groups to partner with SOURCE, online service-learning toolkit, featured "Our Stories" section which highlights involvement stories of our committed students.

2. Develop the role of SOURCE Student Governing Board members.

This year, several new student leaders joined SOURCE's Governing Board. With some deliberate planning, we strengthened and increased the student governing board members' roles. Some new ways that the students contributed to SOURCE included: writing featured "Our Stories" for SOURCE's website, increased advertisement/marketing, and committee work for planning events. Even with increased opportunities for students to serve SOURCE, there were still some student leaders that contributed much more than others. For 2009-2010, SOURCE will be tracking the involvement of our student leaders in order to hold them each accountable for their roles/responsibilities of serving as a student leader on SOURCE's Governing Board.

3. Increase collaboration with new groups.

Each year, new student groups form at each of our 3 Schools. SOURCE has experienced tremendous success in collaborating with student groups. During 2008-2009, SOURCE also joined forces with faculty, departments, centers, and alumni. The JHU Alumni Association and the Hopkins Helps campaign here in Baltimore collaborated on SOURCE's Fall Tri-School Day of Service. Additionally, SOURCE provided feedback regarding Alumni Association applicants from the medical campus. Major emphasis focused on collaborating between SOURCE and the undergraduate Center for Social Concern, including an Alternative Spring Break in Baltimore coordinated by the 2 divisions. Additionally, a new social entrepreneurship group (HOP-SIP: Hopkins Social Innovations Partnership Program) brought SOURCE and CSC together for various purposes. SOURCE further collaborated with faculty, particularly new opportunities with the School of Medicine, to encourage the integration of community engagement into the curriculum.

4. Development of Academic-Based Community Involvement Programs

Over the past few years, SOURCE and the SPARC student group have each surveyed the student bodies in order to identify the gaps in services and programs that exist on our campus in relation to community engagement. Based on the supporting evidence from these surveys, it is clear that students perceive a gap within the curriculum. Two primary goals were attained during the 2008-2009 academic year:

1) A proposed certificate in Community-Based Public Health, which utilized existing courses offered at JHSPH and SON, was submitted to CAS, the Advisory Board, and the MD Higher Education Commission. The proposal was developed by SPARC leadership, SOURCE's Director, JHSPH's Department of Health, Behavior and Society, and key faculty from the SON's Department of Community Public Health Nursing. In March 2009, the certificate was approved and is now an official offering. <http://commprojects.jhsph.edu/academics/prop.cfm?id=44>

2) Development of a new course that would help to fill the gap in course offerings.

SOURCE Director Mindi Levin and Dr. Henry Taylor (JHSPH HPM) participated in a "Curriculum Development" course at Bayview. The process included their review of the current literature, comparison of current curricular offerings to the ideal offerings, gathering input and advice from key faculty and students, and developing new modules that can be utilized as an elective course or "guest lectures" for existing courses. The course has been created as an 8-week elective course that will be offered in the evening, so that students from all 3 schools will be able to participate in the course. The course is set-up to be a service-learning course, which features a community-based learning experience. The Bayview development course took place throughout the entire academic year, ending in June 2009. Levin and Taylor will work to move the course through CAS during the 2009-2010 academic year in order to officially offer the course to students. During the final presentations for the Bayview course, Taylor and Levin received tremendous accolades for their work in developing the course, particularly from key SOM faculty as well as Dr. Marie Diener-West, Chair of the JHSPH MPH Program.

5. Properly Train SOURCE's new Assistant Director

SOURCE's new Assistant Director joined SOURCE in July 2008. The Assistant Director's primary responsibilities include: one-on-one meetings with students interested in volunteer opportunities, student group advising, and event planning. With so much to learn and many relationships to be developed, this type of training was estimated to take 6 months to a year to fully train the new Assistant Director. Since SOURCE focuses on developing relationships and partnerships within 3 separate Schools and 100 community-based organizations, the training period is much more involved. After having a successful 2007-2008 academic year with a fully trained staff, we predicted a decline in activity due to this change of staff. By the Spring term, SOURCE's Assistant Director was able to work much more independently, and understood the various processes within the 3 Schools, and forged relationships with leaders of dozens of student groups and community-based organizations. She has been successfully trained, and is now a strong leader and team member of SOURCE.

SOURCE 2009-2010 Goals:

- 1. Build All aBoard! – board referral service
As a request from SOURCE's Community Council, as well as doctoral students in our schools, SOURCE has embarked on the process of creating a board referral service for our partnering CBOs. In April 2008, a surveymonkey survey went out to all partnering CBOs to gather further information about CBOs' needs and interests to recruit board members from our student body and faculty. The response rate was low, so SOURCE must continue to speak with CBOs to determine if this initiative is worth our time and effort. Plans are in place to continue to explore this promising opportunity.
- 2. Continue to increase collaboration with new groups
While reaching out to new groups is a constant focus for SOURCE, we shall continue to purposefully collaborate with new groups across Hopkins. We hope to further educate our international students about their volunteerism opportunities. Additionally, through the HOP-SIP program, SOURCE will have an opportunity to better connect with the Homewood campus through social entrepreneurship.
- 3. Continue to improve HIV Counseling and Testing Program
Our young HIV Counseling and Testing Program will move into year 3. In 2009-2010, we will implement a series of activities to improve the program, including: HIV Program Information Session in early September, increased reflection activities both in-person and written, involvement of counselors in World AIDS Day and public speaking activities.
- 4. Further develop the role of SOURCE's various governance structures' members
SOURCE has been discussing ways to increase participation of our student governing board members, as well as our Community Council members. Roles and responsibilities are identified, but we have not tracked such activities and held these members accountable for their actions. In 2009-2010, we will be tracking activities and reminding members of their promise to serve SOURCE in these roles. If leaders are not able to perform their activities, they can be removed from their leadership positions.
- 5. Properly Train New SOURCE Team Members
SOURCE will have several new staff members during 2009-2010. SOURCE's Administrative Coordinator, Cherise Roberts, began employment with SOURCE in late March 2008. Therefore, she has only been a part of SOURCE's Team for 90 days before the 2009-2010 academic year. SOURCE has also hired a new Federal Work-Study (FWS) student, Aita Amaize, to work 8 hrs per week through SOURCE. She will be supporting the Connection Community Consultant Program as well as the Baltimore Community Practicum Course. These are practice activities in JHSPH, and the position will be paid by the generous contribution of the Office of Public Health Practice and Training. Finally, SOURCE has hired a part-time (20 hrs per week) AmeriCorps *VISTA, Jennifer Yogi. Ms. Yogi will be splitting her time between Homewood's Center for Social Concern and SOURCE. She will focus her efforts on community-based learning activities, and creating training materials for interested faculty, community preceptors and student leaders.
- 6. Explore other avenues to fund SOURCE's staffing needs
The time has come for SOURCE to seek external support for fundraising efforts to support the center. Additionally, with the arrival of JHU's new President Daniels, the university as a whole will be exploring ways to increase community involvement opportunities here in Baltimore. SOURCE has not experienced a growth in staff in some time, and additional permanent staffing positions are needed to provide necessary support to faculty interested in service-learning. SOURCE will meet with the Development Offices in our 3 Schools to strategize a way to identify funders to support SOURCE.

SOURCE Resources and Services

Annual Community Involvement Fair In September of each year, CBOs set up display booths and acquaint students, faculty and staff with potential field experiences and collaborative research projects.

Baltimore Week In October of each year, SOURCE works in conjunction with a variety of student groups to host Baltimore Week – a weeklong introduction to the city and relevant health issues.

CBO Partnerships Those in SOURCE's network of partnering CBOs receive exposure and/or participation in all of SOURCE's programs. In addition, volunteer management and recruitment consultation is available from SOURCE staff. SOURCE has established an application process for CBOs that wish to become recognized SOURCE partners (including Mutual Expectations of Partners and Criteria for Partnering CBOs).

Charity/Donation Drives Four separate charity drives are conducted throughout the year to benefit CBOs within SOURCE's network (food, winter accessories, book, toiletry) in collaboration with student groups, departments, and other university entities.

Community Service Awards These are given to students, student groups, faculty, and community preceptors who have performed outstanding service with a CBO. Nominations are accepted each year in March, and awardees are announced during National Volunteer Week in April.

Community Tours SOURCE's Community Consultant, a long-time community leader, takes potential volunteers on scheduled tours through the East Baltimore neighborhood to familiarize students with the community. Both walking and bus tours are available, particularly during Orientations.

Monthly CBO Seminar Series Seminars familiarize students with the work done by CBOs and encourage collaboration between students and the community.

National Volunteer Week In April, SOURCE plans a weeklong calendar of events in celebration of National Volunteer Week. Service projects and CBO seminars are organized.

On-Line CBO Directory SOURCE's website is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to assist individuals in finding meaningful service opportunities. Our online directory of partnering CBOs is organized into a variety of categories and also includes a search feature to aid in locating appropriate CBO opportunities.

One-Time Service Projects SOURCE coordinates one-time service projects for those who lack the time to volunteer more frequently.

Reflection/Evaluation Form This online tool is used to assist in tracking student involvement experiences and evaluating partnerships with CBOs. Students self-report their hours, job responsibilities, and feelings regarding their experiences.

Student Advising SOURCE schedules meetings with students that are interested in a variety of community involvement opportunities. Students are assisted with: identifying CBOs and projects of interest, clarifying service-learning components of courses, developing customized internships, connecting to CBOs for fellowship and scholarship opportunities, and more.

Student Group Advising SOURCE works with student groups and organizations within all three Schools. Students are assisted with: special event planning, service projects, community speakers, grants and other funding opportunities, and more.

Student Resource Space SOURCE maintains a variety of resources that are available for usage related to community involvement: literature racks, files on all partnering CBOs, maps of Baltimore. Resources that are particularly useful for service-based student organizations include: student group mailboxes, fax machine, telephone, computer station, storage space, and a printer.

Student Recruitment Kit During the summer months, all partnering CBOs receive a Student Recruitment Kit. This booklet describes the needs, schedules, and desires of our special student populations. Additionally, academic programs that encourage/require community involvement are outlined. This kit is updated for each academic school year.

Tri-School Days of Service In both the Fall and Spring terms, SOURCE hosts Tri-School Days of Service. Students from all 3 Schools volunteer to participate in simple one-time service projects. Approximately 6-8 projects are organized on the same day and large scale marketing efforts encourage students to give a day to the community.

Volunteer Celebration At the end of April, during National Volunteer Week, all students who have reported their community involvement experiences with SOURCE are invited to a Volunteer Celebration and Luncheon. Certificates are given to recognize students for their efforts.

Weekly Service Scoop The Scoop is an email service sent to subscribers once a week (every Tuesday) that is used to identify, catalog, and disseminate information on opportunities for community involvement, including one-time projects, special studies, capstones, internships, federal work-study, conferences, grants and on-going community involvement positions.

Community Outreach Program

During the 2008-2009 school year, SOURCE's Director continued to work closely with SON faculty member Patty Wilson to assist in placing nursing students in CBOs for practical experiences as a part of the SON Community Outreach Program (COP). In order to participate in the COP, all students must complete NR100.426 Community Outreach to Underserved Populations in Urban Baltimore. The complex COP placement process requires a great deal of time, and consists of some of the following steps:

- Educate CBOs about the program and requirements.
- With assistance from SOURCE, CBOs submit job descriptions to program staff.
- Students submit applications, ranking their preferred job placements.
- Secure FWS contracts with CBOs.
- Admissions team matches students with jobs at CBOs.
- Placements are altered due to scheduling and other conflicts.
- Students report their activities through an online activities log.
- Maintain documents within the SON portal to track students' activities.
- Improve training, orientation, and outreach materials.

SOURCE's Director was involved throughout the entire process. Additionally, as Patty Wilson was a new coordinator for the SON COP, SOURCE's Director helped to train the new faculty contact for the SON COP. The related course and placement process occurred twice, with separate sections for accelerated and traditional students. In addition to aiding in the placement process, SOURCE provided resources for the course. SOURCE presented during the course, organized tours of East Baltimore, and helped to identify and arrange for guest speakers from CBOs. Additionally, SOURCE worked with partnering CBOs to organize new placement options for students. As interest in the COP grows among students, SOURCE has worked with the SON faculty to provide additional placement options for students to work with community organizations.

At the completion of the academic school year, SOURCE's Director works to report the summary statistics for the COP. Some of the key data includes:

- 54 students reported their experiences through the online log (vs. 86 students in 2007-2008)
- 19 CBOs were served (vs. 26 students in 2007-2008 year)
- 1,008.56 hours of service were reportedly contributed in the community (vs. 4555 in 2007-2008)

Reported Volunteers

224 students reported their community involvement experiences via SOURCE's Online Feedback and Reflection Form. The following chart shows the breakdown of figures by separate schools, one-time vs. on-going service, and hours given to the community.

	Total # of volunteers	# of one-time vols	# of on-going vols	avg hrs/week for on-going vols	avg total committed time for on-going vols	Total Hours (one-time and on-going vols)
JHSPH	112	56	56	2.9 hrs/wk	69 hrs	375 + 3725 = 4100
SOM	60	15	45	2.9 hrs/wk	85 hrs	58 + 3573 = 3631
SON	52	23	29	4.5 hrs/wk	160 hrs	303 + 4472 = 4775
Tri-School Total	224	94	130			12,506 hrs

Total Hours of Service
Contributed to the Community:
12,506 hrs
**Please see adjusted estimates below for other figures. (p. 18)*

SOURCE relies on students to self-report their community involvement experiences. This information does not capture the full picture of students' community involvement. Quarterly announcements were sent to all students via student listservs in each of the three Schools which requested students to fill out our online feedback and reflection form. Other students were involved in community activities, but failed to report this information through SOURCE's online form. In the SON alone, 54 students participated in the SON COP. However, those SON students were already required to fill out weekly activity logs through an online SON form. For SOURCE's Fall and Spring Tri-School Days of Service, approximately 200 students participated in these one-time service projects. Therefore, we can easily determine that student community involvement at our Schools is significantly underreported. Additionally, various courses require students to work with the community to complete projects. Many students do not report these academic-based community involvement opportunities.

*In order to provide a better sense of the overall numbers of students and hours committed to the community, we provide the following data that has been collected by other sources. Combined with the information collected through SOURCE, these numbers help to better illustrate our involvement numbers. We are unable to account for other unreported hours.

Adjusted Estimates (Other Forms of Reporting and Data Collection)

Connection Consultants:

The Connection Community Consultant Group 2008-2009 Projects

Power Inside

Description: Power Inside is a community-based organization committed to building self-sufficiency, improving quality of life, and preventing incarceration among women and families in Baltimore. Power Inside provides services to women involved in prostitution, incarcerated women, and other high-risk populations.

Project: Power Inside needed a series of health-related handouts for its clients. The Connection team researched local resources and referrals, compiled information from relevant literature about health issues, and designed a template for all of the handouts. These materials were designed with attention to the literacy rate among Power Inside's clients. The handouts served a major need for Power Inside, since this organization often needs to connect its clients with resources in the community.

Connection team: 5 JHSPH students

Jewel House

Description: Jewel House is a non-profit organization that offers programs and services to teen parents (male and female). Jewel House seeks to provide teen parents with the tools necessary to build a successful future.

Project: Jewel House is working towards an application to become a recognized outpatient mental health clinic with the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH). The Connection team completed the DHMH application and proposal. To do this, the Connection team gathered information, spoke with DHMH representatives, and learned about the process for becoming a medical assistance provider.

Connection team: 3 JHSPH students; 2 SOM students

Community Hospices of Maryland

Description: Community Hospices of Maryland provides quality healthcare and end-of-life services with compassion and innovation. This organization seeks to foster dignity and independence among those it serves.

Project: Community Hospices of Maryland wanted to enhance its services and volunteer recruitment, particularly for inner city and pediatric patients. The Connection team researched possible grants and donors who could provide financial support for these initiatives. The team also developed a grant template that can be utilized for future grant applications.

Moveable Feast

Description: Moveable Feast serves individuals who are affected by HIV, AIDS, and breast cancer. This organization provides nutritious meals to those who are homebound and teaches culinary and life skills to its clients.

Project: Moveable Feast's operations require the assistance of many committed volunteers who prep, box, transport, and bake food. Moveable Feast's current Handbook for Volunteers needed some upgrades. The Connection team updated the Handbook by making it more user-friendly, developing a more attractive layout, and creating a digital version suitable for online use.

Center for Graceful Living Wellness Center

Description: The Center for Graceful Living is a Wellness Center, affiliated with the Amazing Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church. The Wellness Center offers many services, including a food pantry for its clients.

Project: The Wellness Center's food pantry was in need of education materials about nutrition that were culturally appropriate and designed for a population with a generally low literacy rate. The Connection team developed materials to assist with the operation of the food pantry and to meet a particular life need for East Baltimore residents.

Project HEALTH

Description: Project HEALTH uses a visit to the clinic as a way to address the psychosocial factors that impact health outcomes. The Project HEALTH model is simple but effective: in clinics where programs are located, providers can "prescribe" food or housing for their patients, and student volunteers then connect the patients with these and other resources. The result is a new approach to health care delivery that addresses the full universe of factors impacting health outcomes for vulnerable families.

Project: Clinic integration and provider involvement are at the core of successful Project HEALTH programs. For this project, the Connection team surveyed and analyzed client satisfaction with Project HEALTH at the Johns Hopkins Harriet Lane Pediatric Clinic. The Connection team assisted with finalizing survey questions, organized a focus group, summarized the results of these interviews, and made recommendations to Project HEALTH.

Adelante Familia

Description: Adelante Familia is a bilingual program of St. Vincent de Paul dedicated to the eradication of domestic violence in the Latino community, and the promotion of family safety through direct services to victims. This organization provides services for Spanish-speaking people in domestic violence situations and conducts a program for abuser intervention.

Project: The Connection team developed and implemented a survey for Adelante Familia's clients to determine the effectiveness of the organization's programs.

Connection team: 3 JHSPH students; 1 SOM student
