

About SOURCE

SOURCE was founded by the three Schools on the Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions campus - Medicine, Nursing, and Public Health - in January 2005 to create one interdisciplinary community service and service-learning center.

SOURCE provides academic, professional and personal development opportunities for the members of the JHU Schools of Medicine, Nursing, and Public Health through community outreach and service-learning partnerships with community-based organizations.

INTERESTED COMMUNITY GROUPS

If your organization has a project that could benefit from the Connection's services, please let us know! We'd be happy to speak with you to determine if the Connection's members can help your group. The Connection only works with community groups within SOURCE's network of partners.

INTERESTED STUDENT VOLUNTEERS

If you would like to serve as a volunteer on one of the Connection's consultant teams, please contact SOURCE. This is a great way to gain practical experience, build your resume, and make a difference in the community.
