Eric Seymour

Volunteer and Outreach Coordinator, Esperanza Center

eseymour@cc-md.org

Eric Seymour is the Volunteer and Outreach Coordinator of the Esperanza Center, Catholic Charities of Baltimore. The Esperanza Center offers comprehensive resources to immigrant families including ESL classes, Health Services, Immigration Legal Services, and community services for housing, employment, public benefits, and family reunification. Eric joined the Esperanza Center in 2013 as a Project SERVE/AmeriCorps member. He has held his current title since July of 2014. In this role, Eric is responsible for all volunteer recruitment and orientation, service learning programs, and coordination of the Center's outreach efforts. Before coming to the Esperanza Center, Eric had taught Spanish in Pittsburgh, and served as the Assistant Project Manager/Volunteer Coordinator of La Hesperia Natural Reserve in Ecuador. Eric holds a BA in Spanish and Latin American, Latino, and Caribbean Studies from Dickinson College.

Patrick Diamond

Volunteer Coordinator, Health Care for the Homeless

pdiamond@hchmd.org

Patrick Diamond is the volunteer coordinator at Health Care for the Homeless (HCH), which partners with various constituencies to promote better outcomes for people experiencing homelessness in Maryland. Improving systems of support for vulnerable populations is shared work. Patrick believes that with a diverse community of supporters, HCH is better positioned to prevent and end homelessness. Patrick joined Health Care for the Homeless in 2014 and manages all of the clinic's volunteers, interns, days of service, and community-academic partnerships. Patrick earned a BA in Global Studies from Loyola University Maryland, where he participated in several service-learning courses including a year-long prison-based philosophy course at Jessup Correctional Institute. He is an active supporter of Beans & Bread Center, Viva House Catholic Worker, and volunteers with the communications team of the Baltimore Chapter of the Young Nonprofit Professionals Network.
